

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: What is a precinct caucus?

A: The Nevada Democratic precinct caucuses are gatherings of neighbors organized by the Nevada State Democratic Party (NSDP). Democrats join other voters in their precinct to express their preferences for Democratic candidates running for president. With our First in the West status, Nevadans will be the third state to share our recommendations on the Democratic presidential nominee to the rest of the country.

Q: How do the Democratic precinct caucuses work on February 22nd?

A: Registered Democrats will arrive and check-in at their precinct caucus location on February 22nd, 2020. When the caucus begins, eligible caucus-goers divide to form presidential preference groups. If a preference group for a candidate does not have enough people to be considered “viable,” (a threshold set at the start of your precinct caucus), eligible attendees will have an opportunity to join another preference group. Delegates are then awarded to the preference groups based on their size. Caucus Day will also give you the opportunity to sign up to be a member of your county central committee and to submit resolutions to the county platform. This information only applies to the precinct caucuses on February 22nd. You may also choose to participate in the early vote period prior to Caucus Day. See below for more information.

You can find your precinct caucus location on our website by January 15, 2020. Visit caucus.nvdems.com to check for updates.

Q: How do I participate in the caucus?

A: Any registered Democrat in the state may participate in the caucus process through one of two processes: in-person early voting or attending your precinct caucus. Casino employees on the Las Vegas Strip will also have the option of attending strip caucus sites on Caucus Day. Participants may register to vote same day or change party affiliation at any early vote location, caucus day location or strip caucus location.
